Confidentiality Policy

Purpose

This Policy is intended to facilitate the OASA's mission by ensuring that the OASA, the Subject Persons and all third parties who deal with the OASA are aware that confidential information disclosed to or within the custody or control of the Subject Persons will be treated with the strictest confidence.

Definitions

All capitalized terms referred to herein shall have the meanings set out in Appendix A.

Non-Limitative Nature of the Policy

Nothing in this Policy is intended in any way to amend, derogate from or qualify the obligations or responsibilities of the OASA or any Subject Person under any Applicable Law relating to treatment, use, disclosure or release of confidential information or personal health information.

Individuals shall be bound by and required to observe this Policy, both during and after the period in which they are Subject Persons.

Principles of Operation

It is recognized that in the course of performing their duties for and on behalf of the OASA, Subject Persons will become in possession of Confidential Information.

All confidential information remitted, delivered or provided to, or obtained by, a Subject Person at any time is subject to this Policy.

Each subject Person shall be required to take all reasonable steps to protect the confidentiality of Confidential Information. Each subject Person shall use at least the same degree of care in maintaining the confidentiality of such Confidential Information in his or her possession or under his or her control as such Subject Person would use in maintaining the confidentiality of his or her own confidential information of comparable nature and importance but in no event with less care than is reasonable given the nature of the Confidential Information.

Prohibitions

- (a) No Subject Person shall make notes or copies or extracts of any Confidential Information or permit any Person to examine or to make notes or copies or extracts of any Confidential Information other than as required in fulfilling his or her duties or functions with the OASA.
- (b) No Subject Person shall disclose any Confidential Information to any Person or use the same for any purposes except for the sole purpose of fulfilling the duties or functions of that Subject Person with the OASA.
- (c) No subject Person shall personally benefit or appear to personally benefit from the use of any Confidential Information.

Return of Confidential Information

The OASA shall have the right at any time to require that a Subject Person immediately return to the OASA any or all Confidential Information remitted, delivered or provided to, or obtained by, such Subject Person.

Forced Legal Disclosure

In the event that a Subject Person becomes legally compelled to disclose any Confidential Information that is in his or her custody or control, he or she shall make all reasonable efforts to provide the OASA with prompt written notice thereof so that it may seek a protective order or other remedy. In the event that such protective order or remedy is not obtained, the Subject Person shall only furnish that portion of the Confidential Information which he or she is advised by legal counsel is legally required to be disclosed.

Consultations and Reports

Where a Subject Person believes he or she may be in breach of this Policy, he or she shall consult with the following individuals who will resolve the uncertainty or prepare a plan for rectifying any breach:

- (a) Each Director (including each Officer who is a Director) other than the President shall consult with the President;
- (b) The President shall consult with the most senior Vice-President or if there is none, the Executive;
- (c) Each Committee member who is not a Director, Officer of the OASA shall consult with the President; and
- (d) Each other Person shall consult with the President.

All such breaches and plans to rectify a breach shall be reported to and approved by the President or, where they involve a material breach or a breach of any magnitude by the President, reported to and approved by the Executive.

Consequences of a Breach of this Policy by a Director

If any Director (including an Officer who is a Director) fails to comply with this Policy, the Executive shall deliver a report to the members of the OASA advising the members of such non-compliance. In addition to any other measures the OASA may pursue, the members may, in their discretion, remove such Director from the Executive.

Consequences of a Breach of this Policy by Committee Members

If any Committee member who is not a Director, an Officer or an employee of the OASA fails to comply with this Policy, the Chair shall deliver a report to the Board advising the Board of such non-compliance. In addition to any other measures the OASA may pursue, the Board may, in its discretion, remove such member from the Committees upon which he or she sits, subject to any limitations placed thereon in the Administrative Bylaw of the OASA.

Certification

The OASA shall require each Subject Person to sign and deliver to the Chair an acknowledgement in the form of Appendix B or in such other form as may be prescribed by the Board from time to time, certifying that such Subject Person has read and understood this Policy and agreeing to comply with it.
